

PRIVACY POLICY

The North Pacific Union Conference Association of Seventh-day Adventists appreciates and respects your right to privacy. We are committed to maintaining a high level of privacy and confidentiality. We will use your personal information only as necessary and as permitted by law. This notice describes how we handle your nonpublic personal financial information.

Collection of Information

We may collect nonpublic personal information about you from the following sources:

- Information we receive from you on applications, forms or other information worksheets;
- Letters and other information you provide to us; and
- Other information from third parties about your transactions with us.

Such information may be shared with the related conference, institution, or ministry of the Seventh-day Adventist Church in accordance with our best understanding of your wishes and instructions to us.

Disclosure of Information

We do not disclose any nonpublic personal information to third parties except to the extent necessary and as permitted by law.

Confidentiality and Security

We restrict access to your information to those who need to know that information in order to fulfill our responsibilities. We maintain physical, electronic and procedural safeguards that comply with federal regulations to guard your nonpublic personal information. We will continue to maintain the confidentiality and security of your information after the termination of our relationship.
